

NOTES

The following transcription is intended only for performing purpose and doesn't seek any critical goal.

The key, time signatures, note values and accidentals are as in the original print apart from: the B sharp are converted in B natural (the B natural is only a warning: do not flat this note!)

The C clefs are transposed in G and modern Tenor clefs.
The baritone F clef is transposed in modern Tenor clef

Instead of marking the “ligatureae” with the usual square brackets, I tried to keep their original shape, as far as possible in the score alignment, to make them more visible (in this composition the note values within the “ligatureae” are always two semibreves).

In the music before the baroque, the Time Signatures are intended just only as “time” prescription, i.e. which note value as to be counted (mensura) and how the different note values are to be divided (perfection and imperfection). This music is above all a vocal music and its rhythm (the accents) is based upon the text rhythm (the text accents) either following or contrasting it. The text rhythm being not modular by definition, forcing a bar division, i.e. a modular rhythm, upon this music is a theoretical error involving practical ones: to put the accents in the wrong places and to prevent a correct understanding of the melodic flowing.

The single parts are put together in score for a better overall sight of the harmonic, melodic and rhythmic structure of the composition.

Spera in Domino

1

The musical score consists of three staves of music in common time, treble clef, and G major. The lyrics are written below each staff, corresponding to the vocal parts. The music features various note values including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The lyrics are:

Et fac bo - - num
Spe-ra in Do - - mi-

The musical score consists of three staves of music for voices, likely three-part (SATB). The lyrics are in Latin and are repeated in each staff. The music is written in common time, with various note values including eighth and sixteenth notes. The key signature changes between staves, with some staves starting in G major and others in A major. The vocal parts are separated by vertical bar lines.
